Thank you for your letter regarding your departure from the Chicago Airport on August 30, 2004. Checking out of the country using the US-VISIT Exit Process is mandatory. However, since the US-VISIT program is currently conducting a pilot test of the Exit Process, and not all travelers are aware of the requirements, your failure to check out should not impact your ability to re-enter the country.

If you are not satisfied with our response or construe our action as a denial of your request, you are entitled to send an appeal to the DHS Chief Privacy Officer, Nuala O'Connor Kelly, who will review your appeal and provide final adjudication on the matter. Dear Ms. Marshall:

On behalf of our client, we respectfully request that he not be penalized for not complying with the requirements of the USVISIT, where his fingerprints and photograph were not taken on his admission to the United States on February 29, 2004. As evidenced by the enclosed affidavit of the person, he was willing and able to do so at the time of his admission to the United States on February 29, 2004. He even notified the supervisor on duty the neglect by the inspector of not fingerprinting or photographing and made a request to the supervisor that he be fingerprinted and photographed. However, the supervisor on duty at JFK International Airport did not have fingerprinted or photographed despite the request.

He is completing his assignment in the United States in the J-1 program and returning to Japan this month. We respectfully request that immigration records be noted that it was entirely out of his control, and he was not at fault when the BCBP at JFK International Airport did not take his fingerprints and photograph him on February 29, 2004.

For your information, we are enclosing the following documents:

We have granted your request. We reviewed your records and found that you were not processed through US-VISIT during your entry to the United States on February 29, 2004. We recognize that this was not your fault and we apologize for any delays or inconvenience you experienced. We have confirmed that the lack of a US-VISIT entry record for February 29, 2004 will not, by itself, have any negative impact on your future visits to the United States. We have also forwarded your letter to U.S. Customs and Border Protection to address the performance and conduct issues you raised.

If you are not satisfied with our response or construe our action as a denial of your request, you are entitled to send an appeal to the DHS Chief Privacy Officer, Nuala O'Connor Kelly, who will review your appeal and provide final adjudication on the matter. Dear Sir,

Due to that, I am being inspected with the US-VISIT system any time I'm entering the US. When I entered the US back in January 5th at Washington Dulles airport, it was during the 1st day the system was running. With all the confusing of the 1st day, it turns out, that when they took my fingers prints, they missed matched the right and the left fingers. The inspector at the entrance noticed it and promised me that this will be fixed immediately.

However, since then, whenever I'm entering the US I am being stopped at the primary inspection station. Than, I am being sent to the secondary inspection, and being inspected again. After getting the approval at the secondary station, I'm being stopped again at Customs for a detailed check due to the note on my entrance papers.

I have to fly very often outside the US for business trips. A lot of times, I'm flying with a group of other executives or managers. All of these delays are usually taking more than an hour to an hour and a half. In addition for being very embarrassing, it already happened that I missed connection flights, meetings or caused a delay in my schedule and the people who are traveling with me.

According to the secondary station inspectors, this miss matched in my fingers prints is already being reported in the system. But, no body knows how to correct it so I will not be stopped again and again.

I have no idea what else should I do so this confusing issue will be fixed. I will appreciate it if when I will entered the US in the next time, the system will be fixed, or - I'm willing to go to the nearest immigration station which is at Portland International Airport (PDX), identify my self with all the needed documents including the passport, Oregon ID, and I-797 form, and have my fingers prints being taken again.

I will appreciate your consideration and fast response.

Best Regards,

Dear Mr. Yonkers,

As previously discussed between representatives of US-Visit and the Department of State (DOS) Taiwan Coordination office, on July 23, 2004 an incident occurred at Dulles International Airport involving the two [redacted] officials and their personal data apparently made part of the US-VISIT system. I am a crewmember of [redacted] and fly regularly to the U.S. gateways. I have valid crew (C1/D1) visa, and have been cleared by TSA as per attached letter. However I have been held at Immigration at various locations. Every time I was made to wait for about 1 hour and 30 minutes after a long flight duty. I sometimes had to re-arrange transportation to my hotel and wait further.

I herewith request my records to be reviewed so that I won't be delayed every time I go to the U.S.

1. State why you believe that your record is not accurate, relevant, timely or complete and specify the amendment or correction that you want:
   Some Immigration officers told me that my fingerprintings were mismatched maybe because the first time when they were taken in the wrong way. Also, they told me that I had to go through secondary every time when I come to USA.

Thank you for your letter on September 7, 2004, asking if there is anything we can do to reduce the likelihood of referred to secondary inspection whenever you enter the U.S. We have investigated your records, and found that the quality of your captured fingerscans was generally too poor to allow us to use our automated system to match the fingerscans collected during primary inspection with those fingerscans kept on file from your previous enrollment. Because we were unable to conduct an automated match during primary inspection, we had to refer you to secondary inspection to manually match your fingerscans.

We checked your fingerscans from each of your entries into the U.S and kept only the best quality fingerprints in our system. This should make it more likely in the future that we will be able to match the fingerscans collected during primary inspection with those fingerscans kept on file from your previous enrollment.

Dear Sir,

On December 30, 2003, I entered the United States accompanying my spouse on an official visit to the United States. I am a holder of a G-4 visa.

Upon arrival at Dulles Airport, the official of the U.S. Department of Homeland Security on duty asked me to allow him to take fingerprints and special photographs of my eyes. Without this, access to the U.S. would have been refused.

This requirement is inconsistent with the rules under the US-VISIT program, which exclude G-4 visa holders from fingerprinting/photographing (see the communication of the Department of State of January 2, 2004). For this reason, I request that the fingerprints and photographs taken on December 30, 2003 be deleted from your files. I attach a list with all the relevant details on my identity.

Dear Sir/Madam,

RE: Deletion of Records Illegally Collected Under US-Visit Program

I am writing to request the immediate deletion of my—photo and fingerprint—records, which were collected illegally under this program. As a holder of a valid G-4 visa, I am exempt from the fingerprinting/photographing requirement of this program. Notwithstanding this, my photograph and fingerprints were taken when I re-entered the US in early January, 2004, after a short vacation in Mexico. This happened even after I explained my status to the immigration officer! To expedite my request, here is the relevant information:

US-VISIT Redress Policy

Revised: April 15, 2004

US-VISIT has implemented a three-stage process for individuals to inquire about the data US-VISIT has collected as to facilitate the amendment or correction of data that are not accurate, relevant, timely, or complete. The first stage in the process occurs at the primary inspection lane and provides on the spot data correction. The U.S. Customs and Border Protection Officer has the ability to manually correct the traveler’s name, Date of Birth, flight information, and country specific document number and document type errors. For biometric types of data mismatches, the officer sends a data correction request to US-VISIT. The second stage allows for anyone who was processed through US-VISIT to have his or her records reviewed for accuracy, relevancy, timeliness, or completeness. The US-VISIT Privacy Officer has set a goal of processing redress requests within 20 business days. Individuals who are not satisfied with the result can progress to the third stage by appealing to the DHS Privacy Officer who will conduct an investigation and provide final adjudication on the matter.

How to Submit a Redress Request to US-VISIT

When you arrive in the United States, if you went through US-VISIT processing – your two index fingers were scanned and your picture taken – you may request that the US-VISIT Privacy Officer review your records for the purpose of amending or correcting them based on questions concerning accuracy, relevancy, timeliness, or completeness.

The Information You Need to Provide for Your Request to be Processed

1. Submit a letter that states why you believe that your record is not accurate, relevant, timely, or complete, and specify the amendment or correction that you want. You are encouraged to submit copies of any documentation that you think would be helpful to process your request.

2. The following information must also be provided in your letter to verify your identity and to properly process your request:
   a) Full Name as listed in your Passport and/or Visa
   b) Mailing Address
   c) Contact Telephone Number (Providing this is optional, but may facilitate follow-up if additional information is needed to process your request)
   d) Date and Place of Birth
   e) Date of Arrival and/or Departure from U.S.
   f) U.S. Port of Arrival and/or Departure

www.dhs.gov/us-visit
US-VISIT Redress Policy
Rev. March 15, 2004

g) Name of Airline or Sea Vessel (Providing this is optional, but may facilitate the processing of your request)
h) Airline Flight # or Cruise Line Ticket #
i) Passport # and Country of Issuance
j) U.S. Visa #
k) You must sign your request and your signature must either be notarized or submitted by you under 28 U.S.C 1746, a law that permits statements to be made under penalty of perjury as a substitute for notarization.

Where to Submit Your Redress

Your redress should be sent to: US-VISIT Privacy Officer, US-VISIT Program, Border and or send by facsimile to 00-1-202-298-5201. The Privacy Officer can be reached for questions at (202) 298-5200 or by email at www.usvisitprivacy@dhs.gov.

When You Will Receive a Response

We make every effort to respond in a timely manner. We expect the process will take twenty
(20) business days, but the volume of requests may result in our not being able to meet this goal.
Please note that incoming mail to the Department of Homeland Security is subject to frequent security delays.

What If the Response is not Satisfactory?

If you are not satisfied with the response you receive from US-VISIT, you can appeal your case to the DHS Chief Privacy Officer, Nuala O'Connor Kelly, who will review your appeal, conduct an investigation, and provide final adjudication on the matter. The DHS Chief Privacy Officer can be contacted at: Privacy Office, Department of Homeland Security, 245 Murray Lane, S.W.,

Sub: Finger impressions at the port of arrival

Respected Sir/Madam,

I arrived at O’Hare international airport, Chicago on June 26th, 2004 for a business trip. Presently, I am located at our client site and will be here until July 30th, 2004.

At the port of arrival, I am afraid that I might have mistakenly given middle finger impressions, instead of index finger impressions. I wanted to update the INS officials with this information, and in that process I contacted the INS examiner in the first week of July 2004. I was told that it should not be a problem, unless there is a false documentation or false primary proof.

I would like to update you with this information, for your kind perusal and request you to kindly make a note of it and acknowledge the receipt of this information. I also kindly request you to let me know if there is any remedy for this. For your kind information, I have scheduled my return journey on July 31st, 2004 through Chicago.

Below I furnish my details, as mentioned at the URL http://www.dhs.gov/dhspublic/interapp/editorial/editorial_0436.xml

Thank you,

Sincerely,
Thank you for your letter requesting the information captured about you upon your entrance into the U.S. in Chicago on June 26, 2004 be corrected. We have looked into your request. We are unable to determine if you incorrectly had your middle fingers scanned instead of your index fingers. We do not anticipate a problem with this in the future, especially given that you have a visa, which can be used for additional verification.

If you are not satisfied with our response or construe our action as a denial of your request, you are entitled to send an appeal to the DHS Chief Privacy Officer, Nuala O’Connor Kelly, who will review your appeal and provide final adjudication on the matter. Dear Sir,

We hereby submit this letter to state that we arrived at the Newark International Airport, USA on [date] from Mumbai, India [date].

After arrival at Newark International Airport while passing through Immigration at Gate No. 38 the immigration officer took the fingerprint of both the left and right hand index finger of [name] and recorded it against the Passport No [passport number]. Upon inquiry the immigration officer has also admitted that this happened by his own error and informed us that some problem may arise in our next visit to the US.

So, I am submitting this letter to bring these facts on record and make an appeal to you for rectification of the record, so that we are not put to any inconvenience in our next visit to the US.

We have included a separate sheet with detailed information with this letter.

Hope to hear from you at the earliest.

Thank you,
June 29, 2004

This is in regard to your letter of 23 April 2004 requesting the correction of information about you in the United States Visitor and Immigrant Status Indicator Technology (US-VISIT) system as it appeared upon your entrance into the U.S. at Newark International Airport on __________. We have examined the data and found that fingerprints and photograph were inadvertently captured along with biographic information. Based on that finding and further investigation, we have deleted the erroneous information. We regret any inconvenience the mistake caused you.

If you believe this response is unsatisfactory or construe our action as a denial of your request, you are entitled to send an appeal to the DHS Chief Privacy Officer, Nuala O'Connor Kelly, who will review it and provide final adjudication on the matter. Re: Biometric Data on [Redacted]

Dear Mr. Yonkers:

As requested by your office, I provide you with my request to correct the biometric data US-VISIT has collected on me. I was informed on my last entry that the problem was my right index and left index prints have been incorrectly labeled in the US-VISIT system (i.e., the right index print in the system says it is the left index print and vice versa), and this has caused the officers to investigate me further each time I enter the U.S.

Pursuant to the US VISIT Redress Policy, I provide you with the following:

3.
4.
5.
6.
7.
8.
9.
10.

Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 1746, I declare under penalty of perjury the foregoing is true and correct.
April 27, 2004

We have granted your request to correct the biometric data collected from you by the US-VISIT Program on March 23, 2004. We have reviewed your records and found that your biometric did not match correctly as a result of low quality fingerscans collected from you on previous trips to the United States. We apologize for any delays or inconvenience you experienced. We have confirmed that your biometric records were corrected on March 23, 2004, and we now have higher quality fingerscans on file for you, which will significantly reduce the chance of you being incorrectly matched in the future.

If you are not satisfied with my response or construe my action as a denial of your request, you are entitled to send an appeal to the DHS Chief Privacy Officer, Nuala O'Connor Kelly, who will review your appeal and provide final adjudication on the matter. Dear US-VISIT Privacy Officer:

I am a crewmember and fly regularly to the U.S. gateways. I have valid crew (C1/D1) visa, and have been cleared by TSA as per attached letter. However, I have been held at Immigration at various locations. Every time I was made to wait for about half an hour after a long flight duty. I sometimes had to re-arrange transportation to my hotel and wait further.

I herewith request my records to be reviewed so that I won’t be delayed at Immigration.

1. State why you believe that your record is not accurate, relevant, timely or complete and specify the amendment or correction that you want:
   I have no idea why the record is not accurate. Immigration officers only explained that my fingerprints are mis-matched. I would like the record to be renewed so that I don’t have to go to secondary inspection.

Thank you for your letter requesting the information captured about you upon your entrances into the U.S. be corrected. We have looked into your request and found that your initial fingerscans were of low quality, which was inadvertently causing your live fingerscans to not match the information in our system. We have removed the low quality fingerscans from our system. You should not experience this problem on future visits to the U.S.

REDRESS REQUEST

Dear Mr. Yonkers:

I would like to be sure that the biometric information gathered from me and my wife earlier this month is properly correlated. I would like you to review the information to confirm its accuracy and, if necessary, to amend and/or correct it so that we do not have "mismatch" problems that may affect my intended October 10 departure from an airport with Departure Confirmation requirements, my wife's next departure, or any of our future entries or departures.

What follows is an explanation of the events causing me to believe that inaccuracies may exist. I have included copies of the I-94 documentation that caused us to have this suspicion. Please feel free to respond directly to our lawyer, who represents my employer and who suggested that we follow this procedure. He will be happy to assist you in any way.

Events of September 20 and 21, 2004

My wife and I had biometric information collected from us during our nonimmigrant visa appointments at the U.S. consulate. Our interview appointment confirmation number was [redacted]. Our index fingers were scanned, photographs were taken and, ultimately, visas issued: (Visa numbers are noted below.)

We proceeded toward entry to the U.S. on Tuesday, September 21, 2004. It was there that the Customs and Border Protection Officer at the Toronto International Airport incorrectly annotated our I-94 cards. (My card shows my wife's status and my wife's card shows my status.) That officer also affixed the I-94 cards to the wrong passport – my wife's into my passport and mine into hers.

Our initial concern was that this was simply a paperwork issue that could easily be addressed as each of us left the country, with an explanation of the process. However, the collection of the biometric information has caused us to have some concern that the electronic database may have mixed information. While our belief is that the biometric submissions at the airport were probably done correctly – mine for me and hers for her – we would like confirmation of this.

Our attorney has advised us that, normally, the US-VISIT system would check the airport submissions against the consular submissions and immediately note an incompatibility or mismatch. But we cannot be sure that the cross-referencing occurred and, if it did not, would like to avoid problems as each of us departs.

Would you please confirm that my fingerprints are associated with my entry into the U.S. on September 21?

I plan to depart from the U.S. I would like to be sure before then, that the information in the US-VISIT database is accurate so that I will be able to depart without having to bring my wife with me to the airport to clear up any confusion.

Thank you very much. Below is the information you need to process this request:

Wishing you a good day

Best regards,
Thank you very much for your e-mail inquiry regarding the US-VISIT Program.

In the situation you described involving a crewmember who was referred to secondary inspection, we determined from our records that the crewmember was referred for additional inspection because of a possible fingerprint match to the biometric watchlist. Additional inspection of the fingerprints determined that the crewperson was not the same individual on the watchlist, and the crewmember was cleared within 15 minutes of arriving in secondary inspection.

US-VISIT has a false match rate of less than 0.1%, so it is extremely unlikely that your crewmember will experience a recurrence of this situation. If this problem does occur again, please let us know immediately, so that we can determine the source of this problem.
