Hi, Jerry and Mark. Thank you for the information. I've one more question to ask: Do you have any sensitivity about us releasing the fact that we provided the data to you? Please understand that the data were already released to the public in Census 2000 Summary File 3 - I merely packaged it into a more usable format. Thanks again. Marie

Thanks much, but I think I've found a glitch.
According to the data, over 10 million live in Puerto Rico:

Can this be right?

Hi, Jerry. Sorry, I'm running a bit behind with the times. In any case,
I've put a file into an internet directory where you can download it.
The URL is:

<http://www.census.gov/outgoing/2kzcta-anc.xls>

This is an EXCEL spreadsheet file, so things should be pretty much self-explanatory. Please note that persons who are of two Arab subgroups are counted in both subgroups, so the total number is Arab responses, rather than respondents. Please call em (301-763-2447) or email me (mpees@info.census.gov) if you have any questions. Thanks.

Subject: Info:Census Data Request

At the time of the Census data request, I worked in the Outbound Division, at US Customs Service. The Outbound Division coordinates all U.S. Outbound operations; which include both cargo and passenger operations. At U.S. International airports, U.S. Customs posts signage informing various nationalities of the U.S. Customs regulations to report currency brought into the US upon entry. Current regulations require passengers bringing more than $10,000. into the U.S. to claim it on a currency entry declaration. Otherwise, they could either be fined or the currency in their possession over $10,000. could be seized by the US government.

My reason for asking for U.S. demographic data is to aid the Outbound Passenger Program Officer in identifying which language of signage, based on U.S. ethnic nationality population, would be best to post at the major International airports. Some cases this would identify multiple copies needed of a specific language sign versus other cities only one copy.

The data obtained from Census was used only for the above purpose and subsequently has been purged from my files!

For the record, U.S. Customs Service was created in 1789 and March 2003 under the recently created Department of Homeland Security (DHS) it has been folded under the U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP).
